'City Only' Library Studied

That Menlo Park may, within a period of one to five years, pull out of the San Mateo County library system and "go it alone" with its own library was indicated Tuesday night.

City councilmen, meeting informally, discussed possibility of such a break and decided to ask members of the city board of library trustees to meet with them soon to study the matter.

The new municipal library, opened last month, still is operated as a branch of the county library system. The county provides most of the books and personnel, with the city providing the facilities, furnishings, a selection of reference works and other personnel.

SAME TAX RATE

Under this setup, residents of the city pay the same 8-cents-per-$100 special library tax to the county as do non-residents and have no more rights to use of the facility. If the county ties were eliminated, Menlo Park property owners would not pay the 8-cent special tax, and the city would finance the entire operation out of its own budget.

During the past year, the city has allocated somewhat more than $13,000 for library operation. The total amount collected by the county library within the city limits from the 8-cent tax rate amounts to more than $26,000. City residents thus, under the present system, pay approximately 50 percent more for library service than do non-residents.

Major problem in breaking away from the county system, it was indicated, would be the acquisition of an adequate stock of books.

Three methods of overcoming this difficulty were briefly proposed:

Under the first, the county would pay rent to the city for use of the building for the several years, which money would in turn be used by Menlo Park for purchase of its own books.

Before opening of the city library building, the county contributed $100 a month toward rental of facilities, with the city paying the balance.

As a second possible solution, City Manager C. L. Longson pointed out that a number of offers had been received by the city from firms that will rent complete library stocks.

Thirdly, it was considered that the county might be willing to enter a contractual agreement to supply the city facility out of its central stock.

City Street Projects Get Okay

Librarian Resigns; 6 Seek City Post

Miss Rucker Going Abroad

Miss Joan Rucker, librarian at the Menlo Park branch of the county library for the past five years, has resigned from that position.

She is currently vacationing at the home of her parents in San Francisco, where she will remain until leaving for France or Germany as an employee of the Army Special Services next month. She will serve in a civilian capacity.

Miss Rucker joined the library Aug. 23, 1952, when there were only herself and two assistants to operate the facility at 631 Menlo avenue. Since then, staff of the library has grown to include eight full and part-time employees, and is in a new building dedicated just last month.

Mrs. Grace Warner will be in charge of the library's operations until a city librarian is selected, under the authority of the city manager's office.

Miss Rucker was hired as a staff member of the county library system, a position she continued to hold as the unit was expanded from a simple branch library set-up to the present cooperatively-operated combined city-county operation.

"I have had the highest regard for all my fellow workers, and have had a most enjoyable time working in Menlo Park," Miss Rucker said.

"The people of the community and my fellow library workers have all been most friendly and cooperative, and have made the last five years extremely pleasant and rewarding for me.

"I cannot leave without a special word of credit for Miss Virginia Ross, county librarian, who worked hard and long to help build the Menlo Park branch library in keeping with the wishes of its patrons, and the board of library trustees."

Job Application Deadline Sept. 1

Six applications have been received for a librarian position in Menlo Park's new facility, Assistant City Manager John Johnson announced this week. Two of the applications are from out of state, while the remainder are from candidates in the Bay Area.

Deadline for submitting applications is Sept. 1. Forms are available at city hall and should be returned there.

Appointment to the position, which pays from $425 to $500 per month, will be made by City Manager C. L. Longson after candidates undergo oral interviews with the city's personnel board. The position does not come under civil service jurisdiction.

Applicants are required to have a degree in library science and three years' experience, one year in a supervisory capacity. Equivalent experience may be substituted for the degree requirement.

The city also has two openings for police officers. Applicants must pass civil service examinations in addition to meeting a number of other requirements which include: U.S. citizenship, good physical condition, good moral character, high school graduation, under 35 years of age, not less than 5'9", must weigh at least 145 pounds.

Deadline for applications is Sept. 20 at 5 p.m. Forms are available at the police department or city hall and should be returned there.

Other positions currently open are ones for park maintenance man (first class) at $384-$423 per month; street maintenance man at $358-$384 per month, and laborer at $317-$358 per month.

The police positions start at $384 and end at $467 per month.

Strikes Delay Bayshore

Strikes and lack of steel are holding up construction of the Bayshore freeway and the Harney Construction Company, Don Walker learned from Mr. Hendrickson of the California Division of Highways Monday afternoon.

Calling for the East Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce, Walker asked that the division engineers take steps to alleviate the dust situation caused by unfinished paving at University avenue. In the absence of B. W. Booker, Hendrickson promised to do what he could.

He explained that delivery of steel to Harney has been delayed and although the division office in Sacramento is bending every effort to expedite the situation they do not expect any steel before September or October.

"You can be sure that it is not Harneys' fault," Hendrickson stated. "Lack of steel for the underpass at the Southern Pacific tracks is costing him money."

3 Youths Hurt In Head-on Atherton Crash

Three youths were injured slightly when their car crashed head-on with another at El Camino Real and Buckthorn way in Atherton Tuesday at 10 p.m.

The youths were in a car driven by Michael Leo Lebenbaum of Redwood City, who was trying to avoid a car which turned in front of him.

Lebenbaum, traveling north in the middle lane of El Camino, crashed into a car driven by Robert Arnold Gallagher, 38, of Los Altos who was going south in the fast lane of the highway.

Police are searching for the car which turned into Buckthorn immediately in front of Lebenbaum's car.

Taken to Palo Alto Hospital and released after treatment were Lebenbaum with a fractured arm, and two passengers, Darlene Sainz, 13, of Central Valley, Calif. and Kenneth Martin, 16, of Redwood City. Both Miss Sainz and Martin had lacerations about the face.

Eye witnesses reported the victims were lying on El Camino immediately following the accident.

State Approves Four New Signals

Installation of four new sets of traffic signals and widening of portions of Middlefield road and Alma street have been approved by the state.

City Manager C. L. Longson so reported to the city council at its inofrmal meeting Tuesday night.

Bids on the projects, which will be financed out of the city's share of state gasoline taxes, probably will be called in October, and the work should be completed by the first of December, Longson said.

Still awaiting clearance from the state, however, are proposed traffic signals at what has been described as the worst intersection in town: Willow road and Newbridge street. Notification from the state indicated that action on this project is being held up pending completion of studies and budgeting. Meanwhile, Longson said, the city will station a special officer at the corner to direct traffic.

The signals slated for early installation will be at the intersections of Santa Cruz avenue and University drive, at Linfield drive and Middlefield road, at Santa Cruz avenue and Sand Hill road and at Willow road and Gilbert street.

Middlefield is to be widened to four lanes from Linfield to Willow. Alma is to be made a four-lane divided thoroughfare from Mielke drive to Ravenswood avenue, with space for commuter parking provided between the lanes.

Total cost of the projects is estimated at $73,000, plus $3000 that will be contributed by San Mateo County toward the signal installation at Santa Cruz and Sand Hill. One quarter of that intersection lies in unincorporated territory.

The state also approved expenditure of $28,760 out of the city's gas tax funds for maintenance of major traffic arteries within the city.

Presbyterians To Construct Woodside Church

A new Presbyterian church is in the offing for residents of the Portola Valley-Woodside area, acocrding to The Rev. H. George Vorsheim, organizing pastor of the church.

Plans for a first-stage chapel and education unit will be submitted before Woodside's Planning Commission in September. If the church gets a use permit from the commission, they will purchase 5¾ acres of property at the intersection of Sand Hill road and Manzanita way.

The first unit of the building would accommodate 100 persons while the completed church building, under present plans, would accommodate 1000 persons in 10 years.

In the meantime, Dr. Vorsheim announced the establishment of a church office at 125 Lowe road, Woodside, near the Woodside library. He will be available for spiritual help and counseling from 9 a.m. to noon, he said.

Fellowship meetings of the new group will be held Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. in the D. O. Johnson home, 225 Winding way. Dr. Vorsheim has invited the public to attend.

Currently residing in San Jose, where he was pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church for 3½ years, the pastor and his wife, Gladys, intend to move to a home on the church property after final details are worked out.

Before coming west, Dr. Vorsheim was pastor of a 1500-member Presbyterian church in Philadelphia for 13 years. His son, George, is currently minister of the Disston Memorial Church in that city.

The Woodside pastor received a call by the Presbytery of San Francisco to establish the church Aug. 1, and he has been working on organizational plans ever since.

Dr. Vorsheim may be contacted by phoning ULmar 1-7843.

Little Money; Lots of Help:

Trustees Hear Hope of Bringing School Libraries Up to Standard

Members of the Menlo Park School Board got a look Monday night at colorful new textbooks children in the district will be using this coming school year.

The books, in bright colors and containing numerous illustrations, art excellent from a standpoint of motivation, Superintendent Mel Homfeld told the board.

First to be shown was an arithmetic series published by the John C. Winston Co., but printed by the California State Printing Office. The series, Homfeld pointed out, is the same one that the local district had been purchasing with its own funds, this being the first time in recent years that the state has printed arithmetic books.

The series progresses from an expendable "Ready for Numbers" edition for first graders through "Understanding Arithmetic," for eighth graders.

Homfeld expressed satisfaction with the books with the exception of the eighth grade book which, he said, "does not meet the needs of our eighth graders who can go beyond the concepts in the book."

In answer to a question from the board, Homfeld said he would like to see the state offer a multiple choice of books for the districts to select. The district is obligated to buy books from the state, it was pointed out.

Homfeld added that the district buys supplemental material where it considers the textbooks to be inadequate. The superintendent went on to say that the district had more and better books than anywhere in California but that the selection can be improved.

Other books purchased by the district and shown to the board included a series on California, including four supplementary books on the state's history. The main text, "Our California Today," will be distributed to each fourth grader in the district.

Two new science books were scanned at the meeting, and Homfeld described new literature books. All of the volumes shown at the meeting are in addition to the district's purchases of books already in use, which Homfeld said, "are coming in by the truckload."

STORK WINS

Giving birth to her fourth child, a baby girl, in the front seat of the family car Tuesday night failed to excite a Menlo Park mother as she calmly related the incident.

Mrs. Charles Courtney, 217 McKendry drive, and her husband were on their way to Sequoia Hospital when "things started happening." They stopped at El Camino Real and Whipple avenue, Redwood City, where her husband went to telephone for help. And, while the ambulance was on its way, a little girl became impatient and made her appearance into the world.

"It was just a matter of minutes before the ambulance arrived and we were again on our way to Sequoia Hospital," Mrs. Courtney said. She and her husband have named the baby Carol . . . she stipped the scales at 8 pounds, 1 ounce.

The Courtneys have resided in Menlo Park for the past four years. They have three other children, Jack, 8; Frank, 5, and Charles, 2. The father is a master mechanic for Pan-American.

AN AUTO FIRE occurred Saturday at 1:40 a.m. on Alma street and East Creek drive in Menlo Park. The car, which had been abandoned, was reported to have been stolen in San Carlos an hour before the fire occurred. Owner of the vehicle is James H. Jorgensen, 690 Maine street, Redwood City. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Lions Set Annual Picnic Saturday

The annual picnic of the Menlo Park Lions Club will be held Saturday at the old McManus Ranch in Los Trancos Woods at 7 p.m.

On the docket are a steak dinner, dancing and entertainment. The picnic is open to all Lions members and their friends.

Reservations may be obtained by calling Dan Attel, chairman of the event, at DA 3-1539, or co-chairman Doc Fenton, DA 2-9521. The pair said that persons planning on attending should make reservations by Friday.

New Hearings Scheduled on Junipero Route

Investigations which have been made for the location of the Junipero Serra freeway in San Mateo County, will be formally presented to the citizens of that area at a public hearing the last week of September.

All locations which have been studied for the section of the route between San Bruno and the San Mateo-Santa Clara county line will be discussed at that time.

Arrangements are being made for a display of maps detailing the alternate routes for public inspection in the area prior to the date of the hearing. Upon completion of these arrangements, the location and date of the display will be announced.

The public hearing will be scheduled for a central location on the peninsula following the map exhibit.

A FALSE ALARM was turned in Wednesday morning at the City Corporation yard at Stanford Village. Smoke from controlled rubbish fires was mistaken for an uncontrolled fire.

TWENTY-THREE PATIENTS from each Atherton and Woodside entered Sequoia hospital during July. A total of 130 patients came from Menlo Park.

'Bookwork' Busies School Board As New Line of Texts Arrives

It would require $12,000 to give each school in the Menlo Park Elementary School District a good basic selection of books, Mrs. Wiley Knights told members of the school board during a report Monday night.

Although progress is being made, Mrs. Knights pointed out, much must be done to get the libraries up to minimum standards set by the American Library Assn. Budgeted for libraries this year is $8000, about half of which will go for capital expenditures.

PTA TO HELP

Hope of improving facilities is increased, Superintendent Mel Homfeld said, by the fact that all of the district PTAs have indicated they would aid libraries as their major project for the coming school year.

The board instructed that a letter be written to the PTA Coordinating Council "endorsing with enthuisasm" their selection of the libraries as a project.

Library Association standards are set at seven volumes per child, with 15 periodicals, three encylopedias, one globe and one atlas in each library, Mrs. Knights said. The $12,000 figure would give each school a good basic selection, but would not include replacements for 25 percent of the books which need replacement, nor would the figure include reference material, she added.

GIVES BRIEFING

Mrs. Knights, who came to the district last year after serving as children's librarian for San Mateo County, gave the board a rundown on activities under her jurisdiction.

She commended both the PTA and the school children for helping to keep the libraries open during school hours. Both groups have helped by helping process and mend books and by staffing the libraries, she said.

Card catalogs have been purchased for each library and cards will soon be added, she said.

MENLO PARK firemen were called to extinguish a burning railroad tie at Oak Grove avenue Wednesday morning. The fire was evidently caused by a lighted cigarette tossed by a passerby.

Under City Capital Improvement Program:

New Tennis Courts 1st Sales Tax Project

First tangible evidence of the work to be done by the one-cent city sales tax instituted in Menlo Park last April was taking shape this week at Hillview School.

There, the fence was being installed around new, city-built tennis courts to provide municipal recreation facilities under joint city-school district sponsorship.

The Hillview tennis courts account for only $3500 out of a total of $105,300 in anticipated sales tax receipts expected to be allocated during the 1957-58 fiscal year to capital improvement projects.

FIRST QUARTER IN

As city officials last week added up more than $40,000 received to date from first quarter collections under the city's new sales tax, they declared that the $180,000 estimated to be the year's revenues from this source was almost certain to be realized.

Under the city council's previously announced policy, some $4500 of this total is to be used to pay off the year's accumulation of interest and principal due on outstanding city bonds. Also in accordance with council policy, 40 per cent of the balance, or $70,200, is to be allotted directly to the general fund to help reduce city property taxes.

It is this outlook that last week enabled the city to set its new tax rate at 66 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, a direct cut of 12 cents from last year's 78-cent rate.

The remaining $105,300 has been earmarked by the council for capital improvements, the first of which to take shape are the Hillview tennis courts.

Altogether, a total of $98,000 from this capital fund has been specifically ear-marked for use this year.

REPAY ADVANCES

One big chunk of $50,000 is to be paid into the general fund to replace advances to special improvement districts.

Over the year, a total slightly in excess of this amount has been advanced to districts formed for parking, paving and drainage facilities. The most common type of such advances has been in the form of preliminary engineering fees for work proposed to be done.

If, by reason of a majority protest or some other reason, the district then could not be formed, the city was left "holding the bag" for the preliminary work.

Such a case was the proposal to pave an alley lying between Henderson avenue and Willow road from Ivy drive to Hamilton avenue. In response to public request, the city several years ago advanced funds for studies of this project. Subsequent protests derailed the matter. In this small instance, the funds will repaid soon, now that the project has been revived, the district formed and the work ordered as of last week.

By repaying the feneral fund now for these advances accumulated over the years, the city will have sums available to assist other worthy projects that may become a reality soon, if not immediately.

The remaining $48,000 of sales tax funds already earmarked for capital outlay during this fiscal year are for scattered recreational facilities throughout the city.

Second largest single item on the schedule will gratify the community's amateur dramatic enthusiasts as well as many meeting groups who for years have put up with wartime, substandard facilities in the Burgess Little Theater.

It is anticipated that $12,500 will provide new wiring and a redesigned stage area there.

Five thousand dollars is to be spent for turfing and a sprinkler system at the Oak Knoll School grounds. Rest rooms at School View Park tot lot, opposite Belle Haven School, are expected to cost $3500. A similar sum will provide rest rooms in Burgess Park near the present Little League diamond and municipal tennis courts.

Turfing, sprinklers and rest rooms at Gilbert Park adjacent to Willow School will call for $10,000, acerding to the city's figures. A similar sum will provide similar facilities at the new Belle Haven Park, in the city's far northeast corner.

WAITING AT THE GATE Tuesday to try out the city's new tennis courts at Hillview School playground were Sandy Crow (left, rear) of 1575 Santa Cruz avenue, and Mike Vallarino, 1641 Santa Cruz, as Homer Fulton of the San Jose Steel Company put finishing touches on the fence, first capital improvement project in the city to be completed with sales tax funds. —Recorder Polaroid photo

For Woodside:

FREEWAY PLAN

Recommendations for the Junipero Serra Freeway and its relation to Woodside will be made by the Woodside Council tonight in a formal report from the town's road committee. The report will be made at the regular council meeting, scheduled to start at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall on Woodside road.

Chairman of the committee is councilman Richard Marshall, assisted by councilman Don Graham and Allen Chickering, Edgar Norris and Lawrence Odell. If the report is acceptable to the council, a public hearing on its contents will be held Thursday evening, Sept. 5. No place has yet been set.

NEW LITTLE HOUSE DIRECTOR

TAKES OVER SEPT. 19—Miss Elizabeth A. Stetler of San Carlos will become professional director of Little House Sept. 19. Born and reared in the Panama Canal Zone, Miss Stetler majored in psychology and received her A.B. degree from Stanford University in 1938. She obtained a Master of Social Welfare degree in 1953 from the University of California. Miss Stetler has worked for the American Red Cross in numerous capacities, the most recent of which was as administrative assistant in the Arts and Skills Corps of the San Francisco chapter. —Recorder photo

COMPLETES TRAINING — John R. Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Jensen of 672 Cambridge street, completed six weeks of officer training recently at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. As a member of the Platoon Leaders Class, he will be eligible for appointment as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps upon completion of one more summer training session at Quantico and graduation from college.

Repayment Of '5th Cent' Okayed by City

Mechanics of giving back a fifth cent of sales tax paid by shoppers in certain instances was studied by the city council in its informal session Thursday night.

How the extra penny-per-dollar gets paid in the first place is something like this: A Palo Alto resident buys a car in Menlo Park and pays 3 percent state sales tax and 1 percent city sales tax. He then takes the car back to Palo Alto and gets charged another 1 percent use tax for that city by the State Board of Equalization.

Menlo Park has provided in its sales and use tax law that where such extra taxation occurs, Menlo Park will refund its sales tax, provided the person presents a claim verified by receipts. A number of such claims, ranging from $9 to $20 each, are now on hand, according to City Manager C. L. Longson.

The council agreed to Longson's suggestion that such claims be paid out of the city's revolving fund, which can then be reimbursed periodically in lump sums from sales tax receipts.

FIFTY-SIX patients were hospitalized in hallways during July at Sequoia Hospital.

Groundbreaking Monday:

Construction Starts on District's New High School in E. Palo Alto

Ground preparation has begun for the fifth high school of the Sequoia Union High School District, located at Cooley avenue, O'Connor street, Bayshore Highway and Clarke avenue.

Designed by the architectural firm of Janssen, Daseking and Keller, A.I.A. of Menlo Park, the school is being constructed by general contractor Dickman Construction, Incorporated of Mountain View.

35 CLASSROOMS

Initial construction calls for a 35 classroom school, administrative section, library, multi-purpose room and snack bar, Boys' and Girls' showers, boys' exercise room, swimming pool, boys' and girls' athletic fields, softball fields, baseball field and basketball and volleyball courts.

The classrooms will include 15 for general instruction, 2 art rooms, 5 commercial rooms, 3 homemaking classrooms, a mechanical drawing room, 2 music rooms, 4 science rooms and three shop classrooms.

According to William Daseking, the schol is designed to be not only an educational center for the area, but a recreational, social and cultural center as well. It is planned for year-round and night use.

Of back-to-back construction, classrooms will open on one of two courts. One, the academic court, is enclosed by the classrooms and will act as a circulation and academic center for the school. The library is placed as a focal point in this court and will be built in the shape of a dodecahedron. An entirely new library design, its shape will permit the librarian to supervise the entire room while the students are in alcoves around the perimiter for privacy .

The second court, called the community court, is enclosed by the multi-purpose building and snack bar, the shops and the music rooms. It will serve as the community center for the school. It is large enough for outdoor assemblies and can be used for rallies, student meetings, an eating area and for other student activities.

The regulation size swimming pool is in a smaller court enclosed by buildings and walls to provide privacy and protection from the winds.

PRE-CAST FRAMING

All framing will be of precast concrete bents which will be lifted into place after they have been completed on the ground. Exterior wall space between the concrete bents will be filled with glass and concrete blocks for vision and ease of maintenance, the architects say.

Classroom lighting will be by artificial means only to enable the best possible controlled lighting at minimum cost. All plumbing, heating, and electrical lines are in an overhead mechanical core. This is both economical and readily available for repairs or alterations, according to the architects.

Each classroom will have a forced warm air heating and ventilating system with a powered exhaust system fo rventilation and some cooling effect.

Landscaping is included in the contract for the grounds and courts and the athletic fields will be turfed.

This first unit will house 1148 students.

EXPANSION TO 2000

Future development of this school plant calls for expansion to meet the future needs of 2,000 students. There will be 25 additonal classrooms, a gymnasium, girls' exercise room, football field and track and tennis courts.

Cost of the first unit is $1,581,000.00.

Muffler Shop Opens in New Building Here

Opened last week at Partridge avenue and El Camino Real, in Menlo Park's newest commercial building, is the Menlo Mufflers Co., operated by Arthur L. Hall.

The most modern in equipment, to assure satisfactory and prompt service, has been installed, according to Hall. The shop is equipped to put in all types of installations, including dual exhaust systems, and a schedule of hours has been set up so that persons who cannot bring their autos to the shop during regular working hours will be able to avail themselves of the service available.

All workers are experienced and Hall himself has had six years' training in muffler installation.

The shop will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays.

Hall, who presently resides in San Jose, says he plans to move to Menlo Park in the near future with his wife, Frances, and their two children, Darryl, 3 and Joyce, age 1.

Maxine Hegland, former librarian at Menlo-Atherton, will continue her duties after having spent last year in Europe on leave of absence.

Menlo-Atherton Staff Ready for Fall Opening

Reflecting the national increase in school enrollment, Menlo-Atherton High School will make room opening day, Sept. 10, for approximately 300 more students than they registered last year.

This will raise the enrollment there to about 2600 students.

Robert Finley, registrar, reported that to provide the needed extra space the school's multi-purpose unit, "J" Building, will be used three periods a day as a study hall. This plan will relieve regular classrooms of close to 140 to 180 students during each of the three study hall periods.

A special registration procedure is planned this year for those students who did not register at the high school or in their elementary schools last year. Students whose residence has been established in the Menlo-Atherton attendance area since June 1, 1957, will register on Thursday, Aug. 29, beginning at 9 a.m. in "J" building.

Any students who are unable to register Aug. 29 will not attend school with registered students on opening day, Sept. 10. They will report for the first time to the schol library on Wednesday, Sept. 11, at 8:15 a.m.

Teachers will return for their workshop and pre-school preparation activities beginning Sept. 3. Twenty new teachers will join the returning faculty.

All together, 126 teachers, administrators, and other certificated personnel will report to school Sept. 3. Added to this number will be the 38 members of the classified staff, raising the total to 164 people serving the school this year.

Several staff changes have been made for the coming year. Douglas Murray, former journalism instructor and coordinator of student activities, will be dean of boys for the freshman class and will take charge of all student government operations.

Edward Tomaszewski, mathematics teacher and counselor, has been assigned district curriculum representative. He will also continue part time with his former duties.

Three new counselors have been appointed. Working with freshman students will be Teresita Esteve, Janet Forbes and Robert Hausmann.

A special service for the BETTER HALF
Many men would like their wives to have at least a working knowledge of the family's investments. The practical side of this viewpoint is attested by the fact that today women control well over half the nation's wealth . . . and outnumber the men on the stockholder lists of many large companies.
If you would encourage your wife in a better grasp of investment, we urge you to let us arrange a "briefing" for her on the whys and wherefores of informed ownership of securities at no obligation to you or to her.
And we invite you to stop in, too, and have a critical look at the professional aid we are equipped to give those seeking greater income.

WHAT'S DOING

R. R. Maloney, your Telephone Manager for Menlo Park

When you're out for a drive in the country, you may notice a little "telephone gardening" underway. Especially where there are tall trees and shrubs. These growths could interfere with telephone lines if we didn't cut them down to size once in a while. When the brush gets extra thick, new chemical sprays (above) can be used. They do a mighty good job, too. And some day, I wouldn't be surprised to see a lot of spraying done from helicopters. It's already been tried out. No matter what it takes, the main thing is to keep those voice paths open for your calls.

* * * * *

That's a piece of telephone equipment in the hand of the man at left. It's called a thermistor. And the "heart" of it is just a tiny speck inside that tube. It's so small you could barely see it if you placed it on your fingertip. It does a big job, though. For with the thermistor, your voice can't fade or blare on the phone. Just goes to show that good things do come in small packages.

* * * * *

Many people call the information operators, but how many know the story behind their voices?
The age of the present operators ranges from a part-time girl of 17 to one of 65, who will soon retire.
After five years, an operator is considered fully instructed in her job. Daily there are 13,000 calls made to information in Palo Alto; monthly 300,000.
They handle all local calls plus long distance concerning Sunnyvale to South San Francisco. A daily supplement directory is issued to them, regarding changes in telephone numbers and once each month a new directory is compiled.
This is another unit of Pacific Telephone to make your telephone service even better.

Explorer Scout Unit Treks In High Sierras

Eleven boys of Explorer Scout Post 223, under the supervision of Bill Enomoto and Gene Carlton, attended Camp Ed Barrer from Aug. 4 to Aug. 10. Camp Barrer is the newest camp of the San Mateo Council and it is located near Avery, in the Sierras. The camp had many activities which the Post participated in which included boating at Hunter's Reservoir, swimming in the lake, and air rifle sessions at the camp's own range.

Attending this camp from Post 223 were Bob Carlton, Ron Enomoto, Jean Erreca, Dave Byrns, Carl Eagle, Jim Haas, Don Cameron, Doug Behr, Ken McGinnis, Dale Harpster and Carlton Gailbreath.

Highlight of the camp for the Post was a three-day pack trip, which included hiking 10 miles each day. The Post left Wednesday with train guide John Parker, and the first night camped by the Stanislaus River, over the ridge from McKay.

Thursday, the Post hiked back over the ridge and to Calaveras Big Trees, where members stayed at a group campsite. This turned out to be the most popular place partly because of the warm showers, which were enjoyed by all. The third day of the trip brought the boys bacq to Camp Ed Barrer for the last night of the last session of the 1957 season.

Court Denies VanHorne Plea

Attorneys for Clare VanHorne, accused of the Menlo Park murder of his step-niece, Mrs. Nancy McLennan, received a setback Monday when a court decision denied them access to statements made by VanHorne when he was arrested.

Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton denied defense petitions for papers in the VanHorne case, and attorneys Dennis and O. A. Goth said they will ask for a writ of mandamus from the State Appellate Court. They'll appeal the decision "to the Supreme Court, if necessary," they said.

The defense's plea was based on a recent case before the State Supreme Court in which the defendant, John D. Powell, was permitted to inspect statements he had made.

VanHorne, 46, is accused of the hammer slaying of Mrs. McLennan, attractive dancing instructor as she slept in the Belle Haven home of her step-father, VanHorne's brother.

Scales Mt. Whitney:

Local Lad Makes Good, Climbs Highest Peak in United States

MIKE JONES

High adventure on television is old stuff for 12-year-old Mike Jones of Atherton. Mike arrived home this week after climbing the highest mountain in the United States—Mt. Whitney.

The son of the Wallace Joneses, 515 Encina avenue, he has an exciting tale to tell about the pack trip up the 14,700-foot peak.

Mike left early this month on the pack trip with his uncle, Layton Jones, and two cousins, Melvin, 9, and Scotty, 8 ,and a friend, Ray Johnson, 19, all of South San Francisco. Jones is a high school teacher and Johnson a hike instructor at 4-H Camp.

They also took along a pack mule to carry heavy supplies up the narrow footpaths of the 14,700-foot peak.

FELLS STORY

Mike tells the story this way:

"We started out on foot near Onion Valley. Uncle Layton and Ray carried light packs, but we kids didn't have to carry anything.

"We hiked only six miles that first day. We had made a deal that the first person to catch a fish wouldn't have to clean any during the whole trip—and I was the lucky one who caught the first one.

"After the first day, we realized that our burro had injured his foot, 'cause he was limping pretty badly. We didn't get very far for a couple of days, because the poor animal couldn't walk. My uncle and cousins would hike up ahead and Ray and I would stay behind with the mule, going only as fast as we could pull it along. Sometimes we were more than a mile apart.

"The third night, the burro slept on his sore foot, and he couldn't get up on it in the morning. So we left my uncle and cousins with him at the lake, and Ray and I hiked up to the pass, which is two miles from the top. We slept there that night. The next day, we got the burro on his feet, and while the others were trying to get him up there, I built a windblock out of stones in case we had to sleep there for the night.

"It turned out that we did have to sleep there—and boy, was it cold. My uncle said it couldn't have been much above 10 degrees. It even snowed a little. We had to hike up to a little stream of melted snow for water. But that wasn't the worst of it.

BURRO DIES

"When we went to look at the burro, we found that he had died during the night.

"So there we were, at the top of Mt. Whitney, with enough supplies and tents for five people, and with only two people who weighed over a hundred pounds.

"We unloaded all the food we could spare, and Ray and my uncle loaded up with 50 to 60-pound packs. But there was still about 30 pounds of stuff, so we kids divided it up.

"Mel and Scotty are kind of little, so they could not carry very much without getting tired. Since I was the biggest (ed.—Mike weighs about 165 pounds) I carried about 30 pounds.

"Our diet on the way down consisted of jello, salami, cheese and crackers. We were still catching fish, too."

The hikers were awfully glad to finally reach bottom. They had hiked 54 miles in nine days, and had caught about 60 good-sized fish. Mike was the champ, as far as fishing was concerned, with 21 of them to his credit.

Asked if he was ready to go back up, Mike grinned, "Not for awhile."

'Park Fountain' Name of New Restaurant Here

Recently opened at 1259 El Camino Real is the Park Fountain and Coffee Shop, operated by long time Menlo Park residents Mr. and Mrs. Mac Hollen, associated with Mrs. Mourna Repetto.

The restaurant, completely redecorated in a modern pink and grey decor, will feature home cooking at its best, according to the proprietors. A complete fountain service and short order selection will augment the full dinners which the restaurant is prepared to serve.

The shop will be open from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Members of the Menlo Park Rotary Club yesterday were to hear Dr. Russell V. Lee of the Palo Alto Clinic describe his recent trip to South America. Title of Dr. Lee's address was "A Fisherman's Holiday." Occasion was the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotarians in the Fellowship Hall, 645 Roble avenue.

Current program chairman for the Menlo Park club is John C. McCracken. Dr. Lee is a member of the Palo Alto Rotary Club.

As We See It:

Public Lack of Interest: Is It a Credit or a Shame?

Every year about this time, as cities and counties and districts adopt their new budgets and set their tax rates, we wonder whether we should be proud or angry about the public's apathy toward the public's business.

This year is no exception. Three persons last week watched as Menlo Park's city councilmen adopted a record budget of $638,000 for the 1957-58 fiscal year.

In a way, we feel we can be proud. It is a back-handed compliment to the integrity of our public officials and the confidence they enjoy that no one bothers to keep an eye on them.

But more than being a credit to them, it is a continuing source of dismay that our public officials never hear from the public unless it is with a complaint.

The most well-meaning official cannot judge whether he is acting in accord with the wishes of the electorate unless he hears from them now and then. When he does hear, in the form of a complaint, he suddenly finds he has gone too far, and often, by then, it is too late to rectify the error.

It would be better for all concerned if a little continuing interest could guide the official's hand.

Upturned Noses Coming Down As Sales Tax Returns Start

A number of civic noses in San Mateo County, previously upturned in disdain at the idea of a city sales tax, are beginning to take a different attitude.

Now that Menlo Park and San Carlos have collected their first three-month share under the new system, the noses are, indeed, beginning to sniff with interest.

With first receipts in hand, Menlo Park has cut its tax rate by 12 cents, to 66 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This is, in truth, a reduction of 19 cents from the 85-cent rate predicted last year when the library and parks bond issues were voted.

At the same time, the city has been able to undertake a number of small capital improvement projects that have needed doing for years and is beginning to make plans for larger undertakings in the years ahead.

San Carlos, meanwhile, with larger sales tax receipts, has reduced its tax rate by 41 cents to a present figure of 93 cents.

While this is going on, other cities — and the county, too — find themselves faced with higher tax rates than ever and a tougher job of trying to continue existing services.

By contrast with their difficulties, it must seem that Menlo Park and San Carlos have found a new pipeline to money, that it's almost as easy as turning on the tap — and the other cities are feeling mighty thirsty!

Of course it is not as easy as turning on a faucet. The money still must come from the people's pockets. There is, however, a definite difference in the way it is taken out of those pockets, and — particularly from the city point of view — a difference in the number of pockets involved.

To achieve revenues, such as Menlo Park's current budget anticipates, without the sales tax, the city would have had to increase its property tax rate by some 43 cents, instead of reducing it. The full burden, furthermore, would be on those who own property within the city limits; have you ever heard a taxpayer scream?

Under the sales tax program, the money is taken out of the pockets of all those who have the money to spend, in little dribbles along the way, instead of in one agonizing lump, and it comes from the pockets of those who live outside the city limits, on the fringes of Menlo Park, as well as from those who own property inside the line.

We believe this a proper allocation of the tax burden. Many who own no property within Menlo Park enjoy Menlo Park city services. They drive on Menlo Park streets, receive an element of protection from the Menlo Park police, pay less than residents for equal enjoyment of the Menlo Park library and have access to many Menlo Park recreational and other facilities.

Throughout such fast-growing, suburban areas as the San Francisco Peninsula, other incorporated cities feel a similar drain on their resources from persons who contribute nothing to them through property taxes.

The sales tax is one simple method of easing the situation. Only a handful of cities in the state have held aloof from it.

To protect their citizens and to provide and maintain necessary services, cities must have money. To put the whole burden on those who own property is unfair under the conditions in which cities now find themselves.

We do not believe the other communities of San Mateo County — nor the county itself — long can continue to ignore this fact.

—o—

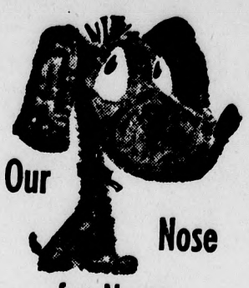

And, Speaking of Tax Rates, What About the County, Anyhow?

This week, following announcement of Menlo Park's 12-cent tax rate cut, comes the revelation that San Mateo County will increase its rate by 13 cents.

The fact that all residents of the county will feel this bite alike, and that it will feel worse in cities where municipal rates have not been cut, does little to lessen the anguish.

We are sure that the board of supervisors is not happy with the action. They, too, would like to be "good fellows" and cut the rate. Particularly following predictions of a 6-cent boost from the county manager, this tax action must have the supervisors squirming.

Squirm away, fellows! We're boiling, and we intend to take apart piece by piece the entire county budget, as well as the relationship of county services to incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Our Nose for News TELLS US:

. . . That it's hard to keep a secret from the far-flung spies of the Menlo Park Recorder.

First, Recorder Commercial Printing Manager Fred J. Bush, vacationing in the Northwest, encountered Fire District Chief George B. Carter visiting the sea lion caves on the coast of Oregon. Carter was returning from a fire chiefs' convention in Portland.

Second, Recorder Publisher C. A. "Cab" Burley, vacationing at Lake Tahoe, bumped bodily into Fire District Captain Dan Hollywood in the doorway of a grocery store at the resort, later encountered former Recorder Society Editor Joan Harzfeld Inglis and her husband John in similar fasihon.

Be careful! Big Brother is watching!

* * *

. . . That several "cool cats" have been getting themselves into plenty of "hot trouble" lately. At 11:05 a.m. Tuesday, Mrs. Robert Mann, 327 Stockbridge avenue, called the Menlo Park Fire District rescue squad to her home to recover her feline pet, which had managed to get caught in the branches of a tree of formidable height.

Not an hour later, Mrs. William Ulett, 165 Selby lane, placed a desperate call to the same squad, as her kitty had become lodged in depths of the cold-air-return pipes of her furnace.

The firemen were unable to rescue the animal, though. Newton tells us that the SPCA was called to the scene, alo unable to render any service, leaving only one more possibility—the plumber who installed the furnace. After considerable to-do, the cat was extracted. By the plumbers.

* * *

Correspondent Maggie Moore (Mrs. Joseph Scaroni Jr. of 630 Olive street) distinguished herself Sunday evening by eating an entire Sukiyaki dinner at a Mountain View restaurant, without using her fork.

She managed with chopsticks all the way until dessert, at which point she capitulated and used a spoon.

Municipal Report:

State Summary Shows Crime Rate Stays Low in Menlo Park

Menlo Park police department keeps major crimes at a relatively low level, when compared with major crimes in other cities of comparable size in the Peninsula area.

This was indicated this week in an annual report on "crime in California," published by the state each year.

Most recent figures, of course, are for 1956, but these are recent enough to indicate how well local police methods are working.

As an example of local efficiency in crime work, Menlo Park's record in burglary prevention is an outstanding example. There were 24 such crimes reported here during the year. During the same period, San Carlos reported 58, San Bruno, 58, Los Altos, 31 and Belmont, 32 burglaries.

Another example of crime prevention is the low number of grand thefts reported. Menlo Park had three of these; San Bruno, 10; San Carlos, 13; Los Altos, three and Belmont, two. There was one manslaughter case in the city during the period :It took the life of a 'teen-ager who was killed when a friend pointed an 'unloaded" gun.

Police Chief George Potter credits his department's "door checks," "house checks," and the continuous and intensive training program which goes on within his department with a major share in the prevention program.

For instance, there are more than 330 retail businesses in Menlo Park, and the doors of each of them are tested twice a night by officers who actually, literally, grab each handle and shake it.

This takes a lot of time but it pays off. During 1956 the officers found 344 doors or windows left open, and on one occasion they surprised three men, who were armed, in the process of robbing a grocery store.

All three were convicted and sent to San Quentin.

"House checks" are something else.

When residents leave the city for any period of time, they're invited by the department to leave their address at the police station and officers will "check" the premises periodically during their absence.

During 1956 the officers checked a total of more than 1000 houses, making a total of more than 17,500 individual stops to look over the properties of persons who were out of town.

Persons calling to ask for a "house check" can also get needed advice on how best to leave their homes, so it doesn't look like they are vacant.

Business district and house checks have one thing in common: They're made at irregular hours so there's no possible way a burglar can figure out the department's schedule.

Another factor which lowers the possibility of crime in Menlo Park, according to Chief Potter, is the insistence on solicitor's permits. Any person making door-to-door calls in town is supposed to have a permit signed by the police chief—and this is given out only after a check with the FBI confirms that the solicitor has no previous criminal record.

In communities which do not issue such permits, it's relatively easy for a would-be burglar to "case" whole neighborhoods for vacant houses and other attractive layouts during daylight, while posing as a salesman or other type of canvasser.

Once a crime is detected, such as the finding of an open window at a vacant house, investigation starts immediately.

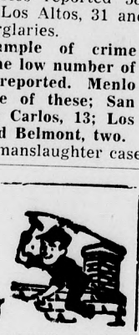

The department has found, says Chief Potter, that the victim of a burglary would rather have something done at once, rather than have the department wait until the victim returns to town while physical evidence is destroyed in the meantime.

Here is where the department's training program comes into play.

All ranking officers of the repartment take training at the Northern California Peace Officers' training school at St. Mary's College at Moraga, and their notes and manuals are available for the perusal of other officers also.

With this organization at work, criminals find Menlo Park a relatively unhealthy place in which to ply their specialties.

Allstate Sponsors Driver Workshop

Allstate Insurance Company is sponsoring a driver education workshop for teachers who will give instructions on the subject during the next school year. The workshop is now in progress in the School of Education at Stanford University.

The workshop is under the direction of Dr. Marston Girard, professor at Stanford University.

The course gives prospective driver education teachers an opportunity to better prepare themselves in the field of driver education. This training will then be reflected in the attitudes and abilities of students in driver education classes taught by these teachers.

Allstate's interest in this program reflects their knowledge of records which show that students who have completed comprehensive courses in driver education, behind the wheel and classroom, have approximately 50 per cent fewer traffic violations and about 50 per cent fewer traffic accidents.

Britschgi Member Of Hearing Group

Assemblyman Carl A. "Ike" Britschgi of Redwood City is a member of a committee holding legislative hearings in Bishop and Sonora next week on the effect that public agency ownership of land has on local economy.

Both the Sonora meeting, Aug. 28, and the Bishop hearing, Aug. 30, will be conducted jointly by the Assembly interim committee on conservation, planning and public works' subcommittee on the impact of public land ownership on local tax bases, and the Assembly interim committee on revenue and taxation's subcommittee on in lieu taxation.

Britschgi is a member of the latter group.

OBITUARIES

RUSSELL ROBERTS

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Russell R. Roberts, 25, who was killed when his light airplane crashed Saturday at Bass Lake Airport.

Roberts, of 730 Lemon street, was attempting to land the airplane at the Airport when the accident occurred. Also killed was a passenger, John Rogers of Los Altos.

The Menlo Park victim lived with his parents, Col. and Mrs. Hayden P. Roberts at the Lemon street address. He is also survived by a brother, Lt. Lee W. Roberts, U.S. Air Force, stationed in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Roberts, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, had worked at Lenkurt Electric, San Carlos, as an engineer in the commercial products division since his discharge from the Air Force. The family has lived in Menlo Park for the past seven years, coming here from Burlingame.

The two men were on a fishing trip to the Madera County outdoor resort when the accident occurred. They left Palo Alto Airport at about 10:30 a.m. and crashed about noon.

Services for Roberts were held in the chapel of Roller and Hapgood, Palo Alto, and interment was in Golden Gate Cemetery. Rev. Floyd Barr officiated.

LOUIS THOMAS

Funeral services were held this week for Louis Thomas, 23, who was fatally injured in an auto accident early Saturday morning.

The Thomases had taken their children, Valerie, 5 months, and Anthony Louis, 2½ years, to stay with the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Jackson of Oakland. The accident occurred on the way home.

County Comment:

County Supervisors Still in Doubt On Proposed 2nd Pension Plan

By FLOYD M. McCUE
Editor and Publisher, Redwood City Star-Advertiser

The board of supervisors still can't make up its mind when and if to adopt a new policy allowing county employees a second pension plan. Supposedly ready for adoption, the board has agreed to hold up a decision until all members are back from vacations.

The second pension plan would put the more than 1200 employees into the federal Social Security System. The cost for the first year is estimated at $100,000 in addition to the already half million taxpayers must pay for the present pension system, which to many people would be a welcome one.

The idea of a second (or double) pension plan is nothing new, however. Most big industries and business firms have a sizeable pension plan of their own for their employees in addition to the federal old-age pension. Possibly no one should complain about the proposed county setup, but when one looks at the tax bills it's time to wonder.

We'll admit $100,000 scattered over the county will mean but two or three cents on the rate, but those extra few cents soon add up into dollars and the people already are becoming increasingly alarmed as to where the money is coming from and how it is to be raised.

When the present county pension program was adopted it was by a vote of the people and carried with a BIG majority. Should the taxpayers be given the opportunity to vote on the latest plan? Would they approve this second pension? We believe they would with the heavy support of the county workers.

GUINEA PIG

Why then put the matter to a vote? We feel that such an important step that will cost the taxpayers so much over future years should be up to the people who pay the bill. Supervisor Alvin Hatch of the Coastside thinks so, too.

One thing that particularly disturbs us is that San Mateo County apparently, is being used as a "guinea pig" for expansion to other counties. If it has clear sailing here through the board and is not put to a vote of the people, then the cry will go up all over the state to follow this county's example.

Nor does the double pension plan end with the county workers. The minute it is adopted in the county, city workers will want it, school teachers will demand it and so will all the others who draw salary checks from a government agency.

It will prove a costly move, and if you feel that it is a good thing, let your supervisors know. If, on the other hand, you don't like the program, let yourself be heard. You have only until August 27 when the supervisors are expected to arrive at a decision. All indications point to its adoption.

* * *

CHARGES FILED

Well, District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson has filed his official charges against Carr Pechtel, chairman of the county planning commission, charging conduct unbecoming a commissioner. It seems the whole blasted mess will be aired by the supervisors August 26 and the entire matter could be ended so easily with Pechtel's resignation.

We wouldn't convict anyone before he is proved guilty, but the DA's charges evidently provide that the planner did so steer the commissioners to rezoning a piece of Coastside property for commercials use so he and two partners could sell the lots for a service station at a net profit of $11,679.40 for the three of them. Not a huge melon split, to be sure, but if the charges are correct in outlining steps to gain that profit then a resignation should be in order.

Nothing more can be accomplished by a public hearing unless, of course, Pechtel can prove his innocence. Then there will be some red faces not only on the planning body but on the board of supervisors as well.

* * *

ANXIOUS WAIT

Still no word from the survey now being made of all county employees as regard to salary schedules. And it's an anxious group of workers who are hoping for some sizable pay boosts.

The supervisors have promised adjustments to meet the report recommendations and if by chance there are cuts along the line will it be in the board's power to order the reductions? The board must follow recommendations of the Civil Service Commission unless it orders its own salary survey. This it did, but jointly with the commission, so who keeps the final decision?

No matter what the survey discloses, there will be disappointments and complaints, but we will bet that old plug nickel of ours that the taxpayers will be hit for close to another $100,000 a year if the recommendations are put into effect.

M-A Student Gets Trip to Academy

James W. Long, 17-year-old Menlo-Atherton High School student, was one of seven scholastically outstanding central California youths to be flown recently to New London, Conn., to see the U.S. Coast Guard Academy there.

At New London, Long joined with 153 other high school juniors to participate in "Activity Week," Aug. 14-19. Each of the students had expressed an interest in a career as a Coast Guard officer.

The trips were sponsored by the flotillas of the Coast Guard Auxiliary and Chapters of the U.S. Coast Guard League.

Long is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Long, 901 Berkeley avenue.

Menlo Colonel on Duty in Washington

Lt. Col. Leonard Evans, 331 Sherwood way, is one of 175 army reservists from California and Washtington currently taking their annual field training at Ft. Lawton, Wash.

The schood—faculty, staff and students—consists of the Transportation Department of the Army Reserve. The summer school is being conducted by the Spokane USAR school.

During the two weeks summer training, the reserve officers attend conferences, demonstrations, lectures, solve practical exercises, see training films and take examinations in staff subjects.

Atherton Police Map Safety Plan

Atherton police are currently formulating a safety plan which will go into effect when students return to their classrooms next month, according to Chief Leroy Hubbard.

Basically, the department spends a week at each school, using posters, talks and movies to teach children how to avoid accidents. A bike inspection is also included in plans.

Also in the planning stage, the chief said, is a program of education for next year's safety patrols.

The Onlooker

As the Sports Staff Sees It

Onlooker Urges Readers to Have 'Look See' At Outstanding Spectator Sport—Baseball

THE GREAT AMERICAN GAME—BASEBALL—is a spectator sport.

On the field at any given time there are not more than 13 players and most of these are inactive, with two pitchers trading the heavy workout chores for nine whole innings.

Fielders, basemen and runners spend most of their time standing around, and a batter who manages to get his club into contact with the ball once every 20 minutes, during the course of a game, can count himself as a hard worker.

★ ★ ★ ★

THE REAL WORKOUT IS IN THE BLEACHERS.

There, any pitch can change the course of the game, and depending on which side you're rooting for, it can spell triumph or disaster. This will keep you on your toes.

The candy butchers get a workout of a different sort, and the little kids get all kinds of exercise, whether or not they see the game.

★ ★ ★ ★

ON A RECENT FRIDAY AT SEALS STADIUM, we envied the little kids.

The game was pretty well wrapped up in the first half of the first canto, when the Hollywood Stars got nine runs across. Even the most avid home town booster couldn't see much of a game after that, although the next eight innings were pretty tight.

As Jack Russell, an up-county aficionado put it, "It was like reading a mystery when you knew who the villain was, all the time."

★ ★ ★ ★

BUT THE LITTLE KIDS—the Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, eight-year-olds being introduced to a Late Night Out and REAL baseball—all had a great time.

They spent the first three innings running up and down the aisles, looking for somebody to sell them some candy or ice cream or something, and then trying to find their seats again.

The next three innings were presumably spent digesting all this stuff, although the candy butchers did a land-office business in the aisles.

The last three innings were pretty quiet, as far as the kids were concerned, and as far as the adults were concerned also, because the game, as said before, was pretty well decided in that first frame.

★ ★ ★ ★

ALL OF WHICH BRINGS US AROUND TO ONE of our favorite themes:

BY ALL MEANS, GO TO THE GAMES.

There were better than 15 safe hits last Friday night, at the Seals' park, and most of them were by the visitors, so there wasn't much of a contest. You can see a contest easily as good, right here in Menlo Park.

Games are played at Nealon, Burgess and Flood parks at least once a week—see sports stories elsewhere in this section to find out when and where—and they're well above the sandlot level, and the scores are usually much closer than they were in at least one Coast League game.

★ ★ ★ ★

HOT DOG AND COLD DRINK purveyors may be harder to find locally than they are at bigger ball parks, and you may or may not be someone under 10 and therefore willing to run up and down the aisle all night, getting your exercise.

But you'll have a good time.

And you'll get SOME exercise, we're sure.

Just root for your favorite team.

At Burgess Gym:

White Owls Out of Cage Race, Goofers, Hi-Ho's Lead League

After knocking the White Owls out of a three-way tie for first place in the Menlo Park Rec Department's A Summer cage league, the Goofers currently share the lead with the Hi-Ho's.

The two teams will meet this week to decide the championship, while the Eagles and the White Owls meet to determine third and fourth places in the league.

The White Owls lost the league lead when the Goofers beat them 44-33 in a crucial event. The Goofers took charge from the opening tip off and were in control throughout the game. The Owls could never get more than one shot at the basket, as the Goofers dominated the backboards. Doing yeoman work in this department was the Goofers' Steve Flynn. Bub Bowling of the Goofers and Bobby Wendell each had 11 points.

EAGLES 47, CHEROKEES 38

The Cherokees attempted to slow down the fast breaking Eagles in the first half, as the Cherokees led 20-18. The Eagles did not solve the riddle until the fourth quarter when they broke loose for 17 points while the Cherokees were held to 10. High point honors fent to Jerry Schultz of the Cherokees as he hit 18 points.

OAKS 53, ALTOS 37

The Oaks methodically picked the winless Los Altos club to pieces. Led by Ron Netsell's 18 points, the Oaks seemed to score at will over the Los Altans particularly in the second half. During the latter stanza the Oaks used a full court press that baffled the Los Altans enabling the Oaks to deluge the basket and fatten up their scoring averages.

GOOFERS 64, MT. VIEW 20

The Goofers proved the old adage of too much over too little as they romped over Mountain View. Never headed at any time during the first half, the Goofers made a shambles of the Mountain View defense and offense. High point honors went to Dick King of the Goofers who hit 16 points.

OWLS 36, HI-HO'S 33

The White Owls outhustled the Hi-Ho's to put them in a three-way tie for first place with the Goofers. The Hi-Ho's had a monopoly on first place until the White Owls clipped them. The game was tenaciously played with the White Owls emerging victorious in the last minute of the game. Gary Dodson won high point honors for the evening with 12 points as well as turning in a good rebound effort throughout the game.

HI-HO'S 49, OAKS 41

The Hi-Ho's picked themselves off the floor and squeezed by a surprising Oak team 49-41 in the first overtime contest of the season. Trailing through most of the game, the Hi-Ho's came to life in the last quarter. Ron Netsell took a desperation shot in the last seconds of the game—the ball bounced around the rim as the buzzer sounded and finally dropped through to the game into overtime. High point man of the evening was Ron Netsell with 16 points.

EAGLES 53, MT. VIEW 31

The Eagles fast broke the Mountain View five to death and crushed the Mountain View quintet 53-31. The Eagles dominated every phase of the game and quickly turned the game into a rout. High point man of the evening was the league's leading scorer, Al McKinney with 19 points. Paul Dallas and Eddie Adams, also of the Eagles, followed with 12 points each.

CHEROKEES 37, LOS ALTOS 32

The Cherokees came from behind in the last quarter to quell the Los Altans' attempt to win their first game of the season. Big guns for the Cherokees were Jerry Schultz who scored 20 points and John Tognoli who tanked 12 points.

Track Meet Set Here Saturday

The second annual Menlo Park Elementary School Track Meet gets underway Saturday morning at Nealon Park.

Sponsored jointly by the Kiwanis Club and the Menlo Park Recreation Department, the event will feature competition for the classes. Class A will consist of seventh and eighth graders, while class B has been established for sixth graders and under.

Numerous medals will be awarded to competitors in the events, according to Warren Speiker and Stan Sexton, coordinators of the meet.

Menlo Juniors Beat Belmont

Menlo Park's Junior Rec team took a close win over the Belmont Blues Saturday, sneaking by their foes 6-5.

The locals combined two big innings to take the victory, scoring three runs in both the third and sixth stanzas.

Darrel DeZur singled, Larry Wagner got hit by a pitched ball, and starting pitcher Dick Crawford walked to load the bases in thethird stanza. Walker Williams got on base via an error at first base, scoring DeZur. Both Dave Mason and Bob Lovejoy walked to bring in two more Menlo runs.

Bill Squires got a walk to begin the sixth inning scoring spree of the Juniors. DeZur again singled and Bob Heidger walked. Larry Wagner singled to bring in Squires, while an error gave the locals two more runs.

Congress authorized penny postcards on June 8, 1872.

Seniors Drop Finale to Legion 17-4

The Menlo Park Rotary Club's Seniors finished their season last weekend by dropping a game to the Bill Irwin American Legion Post 17-4. The winners last week captured the championship among all Legion teams in the state at Ontario, Calif.

The locals kept in the game until the end of the sixth stanza. At that time, the seniors were behind by a 6-2 count.

The Legion squad blasted out four runs in the eighth inning and seven in the ninth, knocking Buddy Jones from the mound.

Pitcher Dick Sanchez started the game for the Seniors, being replaced after four innings by Mike Lewis. Lewis left at the end of the seventh in favor of Jones, but came back in the ninth to retire the victors.

Ironically, all four Senior runs came with the help of John Taylor, a reserve Legion catcher who was loaned to the locals after their catcher, Ron Harris, split his finger.

Taylor doubled in the sixth stanza, bringing in Sanchez and Cliff Gwartney. Sanchez got on base via a walk, while Gwartney made the grade through a fielder's choice.

The Legion catcher figured in two more of the Seniors' runs. Taylor struck out, but made first safely after the catcher dropped the ball on the third strike. Irwin scored and Lindy Guerra singled later to bring Taylor home.

The local team committed six errors, while the winners made only two.

Coach Frank Bettencourt's Seniors finished the season with a four win-eight loss record.

KHMC's Rallye of Champions Gets Started Saturday Evening at Airport Near Hayward

Largest item on the sports car bill of fare this weekend in the Rallye of Champions, an overnighter to be put on by Kings Highway Motor Club Saturday night.

The rally, which will consist of both senior and novice classes, will start from Hayward Airport, west of Hayward, at 9:30 p.m. Technical inspection begins at 8:45 p.m. and a driver meeting will be held at 9:15 p.m.

The senior class is open to all comers, while the novice division is limited to cars in which neither driver nor navigator has won a rally in 1957.

Trophies will be awarded the first place drivers in both classes, and plaques will be given to first, second and third place navigators.

If declared prior to the start of the event, four car teams may compete for honors. The cars need not be from the same club.

Driving time will be about eight hours, according to Ed Wall Jr. of Menlo Park, activities chairman for the club and rallymaster of the event. Although Wall said the rally will tax the ability of all contestants, he added that it will contain no gimmicks.

Entry fee payable at post is $2.50.

Knights of the Road Set Rally Sunday Morning

Knights of the Road will hold the Sand and Sea Rallye Sunday morning. The event will leave Bettencourt's Market, El Camino Real and El Monte in Mountain View, at 9 a.m. Plaques will go to the first three places, and the entry fee has been set at $1.50.

Kinsley Catches Fish in Derby

Among last week's winners during the Sausalito-Golden Gate Salmon Derby was 14-year-old Bob Kinsley of Menlo Park.

Bob placed third in competition during the week by landing a 25-pounder while on Hans Andersen's party boat, Chief.

Salmon fishing picked up last week, according to Edwin S. Long, derby manager, who said more fish were weighed in than in any previous week since the Derby opened.

The derby, which offers 12 weekly prizes in addition to the grand prize, is sponsored by the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce. The contest lasts through Sept. 6.

Down to Earth:

Attractive Shrubs Thrive in Garden's Shady Planting Spots

Gardeners possessing shady planting spots are indeed lucky—and fortunately, nearly all gardeners have such an area. For it is in such shady places that many attractive shrubs thrive, advises the California Association of Nurserymen.

Under trees, between buildings, on the north side of a home, or wherever it is, the shady planting area provides a unique opportunity to experiment with fascinating textures, light and colors.

Many shrubs suited to shady areas have glossy leaves, which beautifully show-off filtered sunlight, or light reflected from other sources. One such glossy-leafed shrub is the evergreen Delavay Osmanthus (osmanthus delavai), perhaps best known for the spicy fragrance of its small, white, spring-blooming flowers. The Osmanthus is also a good "light reflector" for shady areas. Its tiny, dark-green notched leaves grow on gently arching branches.

This slow grower eventually reaches six feet, though it should be protected from strong winds, and prefers slightly acid soil.

For a startling exotic effect in semi-shade, many gardeners prefer another glossy-leafed shrub, the Fatsia Japonica (also called aralia sieboldi). The lush, semi-tropical plant has large dark leaves, often more than a foot wide. Fatsia is a tall plant and an excellent tub speciman, tolerant of all soils. Several varieties, with variegated leaves, are also available.

To definitely brighten the shady spot, the unusual foliage of the Gold Dust Plant (acubua japonica variegata) is ideal. Living up to its name, this medium growing shrub has gold-flecked toothed leaves growing thickly on its branches. When placed adjacent to darker plants requiring similar growing conditions (such as camellia or daphne), the Gold Dust Plant provides eye-catching highlights. Two plants, a male and a female, are necessary to produce bright red berries in winter.

For colorful blooms in shady areas, no shrub enjoys the rich popularity of the camellia. The camellia has earned its reputation by its many flower forms and colors—and because one or another of the varieties are in bloom from fall to spring. A well-planned shade garden may enjoy the splendor of camellia blooms most of the year with these handsome plants. The camellia needs well-drained, moist, acid soil for peak performance and prefers filtered to full shade.

The foliage of the Oregon Grape (mahonia aquifolium) lends different effects in different seasons. Summertime brings out dark green leaves similar to holly, while in winter, these same leaves take on a distinctive bronze-red color. In early spring, new decoration appears in the form of brilliant yellow-gold flowers.

Yesterday - Today - and - Tomorrow (brunfelsia calycina floribunda) is another evergreen shade-lover which grows in compact form to six feet. Its unusual name stems from the abrupt change in flower-color in three days from purple to lavender to white. It is an especially useful plant because of its very fragrant flowers which have a long spring blooming season. This interesting plant thrives best in rich, slightly acid soil with good drainage. It provides a highly distinctive effect when planted under high branching trees.

A successful background planting for shaded area may be achieved with the Japanese Viburnum.

PUTTING ON SUITS for the first time are Ricky Christensen and Andy Del Pozzo, both members of the 10-13 year old farm league all-star team, sponsored by the Menlo Park Recreation Department. The uniforms were donated to the farm leaguers by sponsors of several little league teams. Library Notes:

New Library Boosts Borrowers' Number Rapidly, 'Friends' Told

Menlo Park's library has proven popular enough to attract 765 new borrowers since its opening last month, Librarian Miss Joan Rucker told members of the Friends of the Library, at their regular monthly meeting last week.

Augmented popularity of the library among children was also indicated, as Mrs. Robert Houston, representing the American Association of University Women and the Peninsula Storytellers' Guild, reported that the number of youngsters attending the Tuesday afternoon sessions has doubled since the library was opened.

Meanwhile, members of the Friends asked for volunteers from their membership to aid in marking and registering paperback books at the facility in civic center. Persons wishing to join the Friends, or aid in the work at the library, or both, should leave their names at the library desk. They will be contacted.

Other activities at the meeting, over which President Mrs. John Crawford officiated included:

The hearing of a report by Dr. George Hickerson, president of the Garden Club of Menlo Park, in which he stated that the club was ready to aid with decorations whenever a special event is scheduled;

Hearing of a report by Mrs. Allen E. Kayser, reporting on the Memorial book program;

The hearing of a report by Library Trustee Waren Natwick, in which he discussed some of the problems encountered in the opening of a new library.

New Theater Group to Stage Christie Play

A newly-formed theater group is hard at work on its first production, London's longest-running hit, Agatha Christie's mystery, "The Mousetrap."

The new group was formed by local ex-professionals and experienced amateurs who felt a need for little theater activity during what is usually the off-season.

Comedia, as the group will be known, will operate under the title of Carroll and Clark Productions for their first production.

Jerry LeGrand, permanent director of the Menlo Players Guild, will direct the group's first production, which will be produced in-the-round, a method of staging best suited to the play, he said.

The play will be produced at Rickey's Studio Inn, and will begin its run Sept. 5. It will be repeated on Sept. 6, 7, 8, 14 and 15. Tickets may be purchased from the Peninsula Box Office and by mail order from Carroll and Clark Production, Rickey's Studio Inn, or by calling DA 4-3038.

North 13-Year-Olds Beat Southern Team

By DAVE LANG

Babe Ruth 13-year-olds from the north proved to be too much for their southern counterparts downing them in a hitfest, 11-3, at El Camino Park Saturday. Classy defensive plays and excellent hitting by both teams were highlights of the contest.

The north scored in all but two of the nine innings in the struggle.

The game reportedly lived up to expectations, giving coaches ample opportunity to see their future players in action. (The 13-year-olds are at the bottom of the age bracket for Babe Ruthers.)

The northern team scored one in the first inning following back-to-back singles by Marty Christiansen, Roger Williams and Cubby Welch. An RBI single by Ken Hadden scored Christiansen. The second inning saw Ricky Bentley reach first by an error and continue to second on another. Walks to Christiansen and Williams sent Bentley to third where a wild pitch scored him.

Mike Cruver started things off in the third by doubling high off the right field fence. A sacrifice base-hit by Bob Gugliemetti sent Cruver to third an da long sacrifice fly by Arnold Gilpin scored him.

Bentley singled sharp to short to start the fourth inning. He stole second base and went to third on a hit and run single by Williams. Cubby Welch then unleashed the deciding blow of the game. He hit a letter high fast ball over the left fielders' head and raced across the plate with a three run homer.

The northerners didn't score again until the sixth. Williams led off the inning with a liner to center. Welch, executing a perfect hit and run, sent Williams to third on a single to left. Kenny Hadden squeezed Williams home with a bunt-single. Welch scored on a wild throw to first base on the hit by Hadden.

Welch walked to lead off the eight, stole second base and scored on a liner to left-center by Hadden. Bob Garner singled to center through the box. He went to second on another blast through the box by Rick Bentley and both runners advanced on a walk to Bill Squires. Garner scored on an infield out by Grant Beise. Bentley, waiting for the proper moment, streaked home in a cloud of dust to steal home under the pitcher's delivery.

The Southerners scored their runs in the third and fifth innings. Bill Pletsch opened scoring in the third by singling to left. Kent Weber blasted a long triple over the left-fielders' head and only good defensive play by centerfielder Cubby Welch limited Weber to a triple. He was backing the left fielder up at the crack of the bat. Weber crossed the plate on an error at first base. Weber doubled in the fifth to again take part in the scoring. This time Bob Langfelder tripled to score Weber.

Starting north pitcher, Jim Sarafinski baffled the South for four innings and seemed the most effective of the North's hurlers to chalk up the win. He allowed only two runs, one was earned, he walked two and allowed four hits while striking out five. "Big" Bob Garner reliever Sarafinski in the fifth and gave up the other run to the South. This was also an earned run. Garner struck out one, yielded three hits and walked two in pitching three innings. Rick Bentley relieved Garner and struck out three, walked one and gave up two hits in his final two innings.

Four south hurlers were unable to stop the powerful northern hit attack. They gave the north nine of the 11 runs as earned. Bruce Bellandi, recovering from a sore arm, started and was the losing pitcher. Bellandi gave up three runs on six hits in pitching three innings. He walked two and struck out four. Bub Mitchell relieved Bellandi and was pounded for five runs and seven hits. Mitchell showed good control by walking none. He also struck out none. "Otis" Hamilton followed mitchell to the hill and got away with only one run. He walked two and struck one while allowing two hits in his two innings. Criag Cordes finished the game for the South. He allowed the North to get two runs on two hits and one walk. He struck out one while pitching the last inning.

Receives Award . . .

Cubby Welch was selected "outstanding athlete" of the 13-year-old's Babe Ruth contest Saturday. The unanimous decision of umpires and coaches, Cubby received the foot-high trophy due to his outstanding hitting and fielding, which led the north to victory.

His general attitude, hustle and sportsmanship contributed to the decision, officials reported.

Father, Son Win American Legion Awards

The American Legion school award runs in the family of the Martin Christiansens of Hawthorne drive in Atherton.

Young Martin received the boys' award last June at Encinal School for "courage, leadership, honor, service and scholarship." He enters Menlo-Atherton this September. Martin Sr. received the same award in 1933 at Channing Junior High in Palo Alto.

"I was really thrilled and surprised when Marty brought the award slip home. Mine is exactly the same," Christiansen said.

When asked how he felt the award compared over a space of 24 years, Christiansen said he couldn't win it now because more children are in the schools and competition would be keener. He added that he believes the schools and teachers are far better able to raise pupils' standards than when he was a boy.

Christiansen has worked with the schools as a voluntary physical education instructor for 10 years. The last five have been spent at Encinal School of the Menlo Park City School District.

'California or Bust':

Three Youths in a Model 'T' Prove 'The Impossible' Can Be Done

By BILL FINEFROCK
Recorder Auto Editor

"Too many people told us we couldn't do it," said a trio of college boys in explaining a trip from Kirkwood, Mo., to Menlo Park by Model T Ford.

The 1923 touring car carried the three pre-college boys more than 2000 miles in three weeks before they arrived here last weekend. The vintage Ford got a two-day rest while its owner, John Matthews, 18, and two friends visited John's uncle, Glenn Wasson, 900 University drive.

With Matthews were Norman Leuttbeg, 18, and John Dawson, 18, both of Kirkwood. A fourth member of the entourage, Reed Webb, 16, left the group before arriving in Menlo.

Leaving Kirkwood, a suburb of St. Louis, July 22, the travelers journeyed some 800 miles to Yankton, S. D., before they had their first trouble—a burned out rod bearing.

Spotted Horse, Wyo., population two, was the next "rest stop." Here another rod had to be replaced.

The boys found a treasure house of Model T parts when they visited a collector in Rapid City, S. D. While there they installed a two-speed Ruxtel differential and an outside oiler to aid the car in its trek over the mountains.

A short time later, however, the T required more attention. The brake bands burned out as the vintage Ford attempted to negotiate the Bad Hills and the area surrounding Mt. Rushmore.

Flat tires also plagued the travelers, who conservatively estimated they had at least 10. The record for flats, however, came in South Dakita when they had three in 40 minutes.

The Ford attracted its share of attention from police along the route, but the boys report that most of their business with the law was friendly. Going through an Idaho town one night the Ford, like the proverbial Pied Piper, attracted some 15 officers in three cars. All were merely curious about the car.

In California, a patrolman stopped them to tell them to pull off the highway whenever a number of cars collected behind them.

While here, the trio took the Ford to the city to see the sights, did a little work on the car and then took off several days after arriving.

Their eventual goal was Laguna Beach in Southern California where John will visit his grandmother and another uncle. He hopes to sell the car in the L.A. area so that he can buy a 1912 Ford he has located in Missouri.

All three of the Model T tourers will enter college for the first time this fall.

LONG TREK BY MODEL T

LOOKING OVER THE ROUTE of their 2000-mile trip via a 1923 model T Ford are John Matthews (left), owner of the car, Norman Leuttbeg and John Dawson. The trio drove the vintage Ford here from Kirkwood, Mo., over an indirect route to Menlo Park. While here last week, they visited Matthews' uncle, Glenn Wasson, 900 University drive, and after a short visit, the trio got into the car and headed for the Los Angeles area. —Recorder photo

Be it ordained and enacted by the Board of the Menlo Park Sanitary District, County of San Mateo, State of California, that General Regulation No. 51 of said District be amended as follows:

1. Amend Section 105 by inserting the word "which" after the word "and".

2. Amend Section 114 to read as follows:

Section 114. "Building Sewer" or "Side Sewer" shall mean the extension from the building drain to the public sewer or other place of disposal.

3. Change Section 402 in its entirety to read:

Section 402. (a) There shall be three (3) classes of building sewer permits: Class One, for service to single structure, non-industrial establishments; Class Two, for service to establishments producing industrial wastes; Class Three, service to all other types of establishments. For a permit of any class, the property owner or his agent shall apply for a permit on a special form furnished by the District. A permit and inspection fee of Five ($5.00) Dollars for a Class One permit and Fifteen ($15.00) Dollars for a Class Two or Class Three permit shall be paid to the Superintendent at the time the application is filed.

(b) Class Two Permits: Any person applying for a Class Two permit shall provide the Superintendent with such information as he may require regarding the quantity and composition of the industrial wastes and related matters.

(c) Class Three Permits: Any person applying for a Class Three permit shall supply the District with such maps, plans, profiles, or other information as may be required. These maps, plans, profiles, etc., shall show the location and boundary lines of the property to be sewered and of each tract, lot, or parcel therein, together with existing and proposed streets, roads, highways, easements, and rights of way within and immediately contiguous to said property, and shall show the proposed connections with the Menlo Park Sanitary District sewer system. The profile shall accurately show the proposed sewer and existing ground surface elevations together with such changes as may result from subsequent grading, filling, road construction, etc.

The District Engineer or his representative shall examine the plans submitted, to verify that they are in accordance with good engineering practice and in compliance with the standards and policies of the Menlo Park Sanitary District. Plans which have been so examined and approved will be submitted to the District Board for its approval, alteration, or rejection.

After approval of the plans by the District Board, actual construction may be started and all work will be performed under the inspection of, and in accordance with the standards and specifications of, the Menlo Park Sanitary District.

In addition to the permit and inspection fee, the applicant shall pay to the Menlo Park Sanitary District all costs and expenses in excess of $15.00 which have been borne by the District in connection with the examination of plans and the inspection of construction, said costs to be determined by the Menlo Park Sanitary District.

The top of the clean-out shall be provided with a regulation clean-out cap. The clean-out shall be readily accessible for maintenance purposes and plainly visible to the eye or its location shall be marked with a suitable stake driven in the ground.

Section 412. All joints and connections shall be made gas-tight and water tight.

Cast iron pipe joints shall be firmly packed with oakum or hemp and filled with molten lead, Federal Specification (QQ-L-156), not less than one (1) inch deep. Lead shall be run in one pouring and calked tight. No paint, varnish, or other coatings shall be permitted on the jointing material until after the joint has been tested and approved.

The joint shall first be calked tight with jute, hemp, or similar approved material.

Other jointing materials and methods may be used only by approval of the Superintendent.

6. Add Section 416 to read as follows:

Section 416. In the event a property owner desires the District to accept a sewer as a public sewer, the property owner shall supply the District with a copy of the recorded subdivision map or maps showing the location of all lots, public streets, and public utility easements. In lieu of a recorded map of the subdivision, the District may accept at the request of the property owner and at the option of the District, grants of easements for the strip of property in which the sewer lies, together with rights of ingress and egress thereto. Such grants of easements shall be for strips of property not less than 10 feet in width.

Garden Ceremony:

Susan McCarty is Married

The gardens of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shreve on Leon way, Atherton, was the setting last Sunday for the 3 o'clock wedding of Mrs. Shreve's daughter, Susan McCarty, when she became the bride of Edmond C. Baume, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement R. Baume of Redwood City.

Birch trees formed the background for the ceremonies which took place before a white archway trimmed with summer flowers. The bridal path was marked with a white runner and white stakes tied with white ribbon.

Escorted by her father, Francis McCarty of San Francisco, Susan chose a summer wedding gown of white organdy. The ballerina length skirt was made bouffant with organdy tiers accented with embroidered eyelet. The bodice was detailed with a scoop neckline and short sleeves.

Her shoulder length veil was held by a crown of lace and miniature flowers and she carried an arrangement of white roses and stephanotis mingled with a few pink roses.

Jill Dougherty of San Francisco was her cousin's maid of honor. She chose a pink organdy ballerina length frock styled with a large Puritan collar and a rose velvet sash at her waist. Sharon McCarty, as her sister's junior bridesmaid, was also in a pink ballerina length frock with the full skirt trimmed with lace tiers. Each carried a pink basket filled with an assortment of pink blossoms.

Standing with his brother as best man was Edgar Baume of San Carlos. The Rev. Schuyler Partt of Hollister, formerly of the Episcopal Church in Redwood City, officiated at the ceremony. David Dahle of Palo Alto was the wedding soloist.

Following the vow exchange, the young coupe was toasted with champagne by some 150 guests.

For the event, Mrs. Shreve chose a green silk with matching shoes and gold accessories. Mrs. Baume chose for her son's wedding, a heather knit with beige accessories.

When the couple departed for their wedding trip to Lake Tahoe, the new Mrs. Baume was wearing a navy blue suit with matching shoes, bag and hat. When they return, they will make their home in Modesto where the benedict has taken a position with the Stanislaus County city and regional planning department.

Susan was graduated from Menlo-Atherton High School and attended the College of San Mateo where she majored in education. In addition to her sister, she has a brother, Neil McCarty of Atherton.

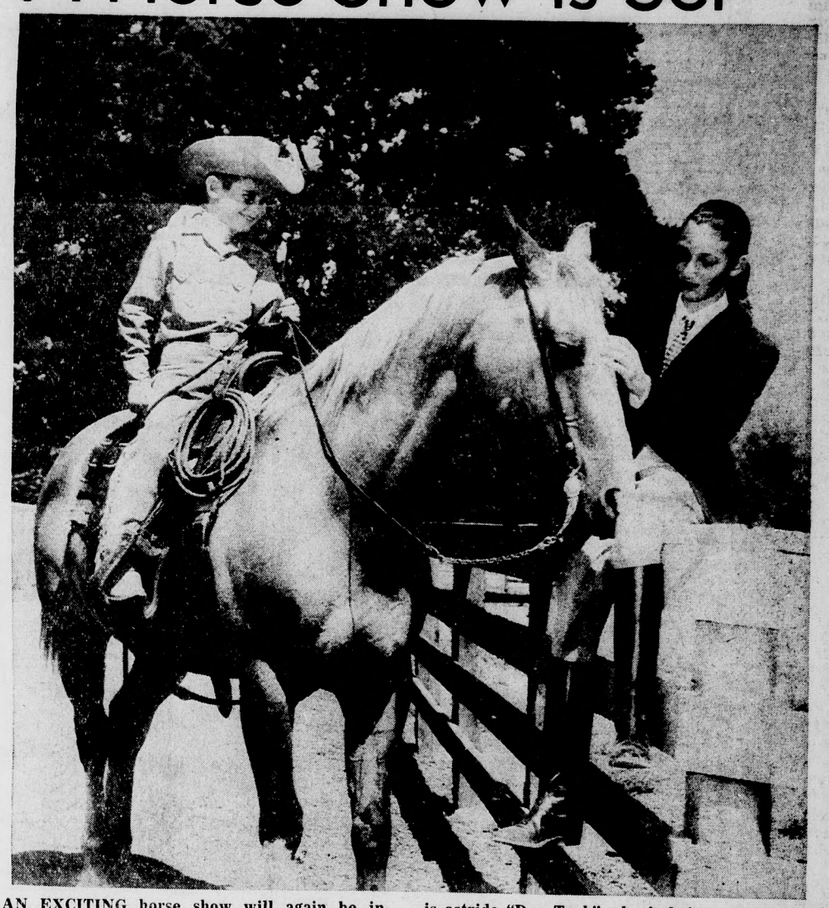

Edmond was graduated last June from Stanford University where he majored in geography. He has another brother, Harry Baume of Redwood City.

International Flavor at Menlo Players Guild Party

By PROXY

A bit of international flavor was added to last Saturday evening's party given by the Menlo Players Guild at the Vine street home of Natalie and "Andy" Anderson with the guest list including newcomers to this area from European countries.

Party planners borrowed the Oriental idea and hung large Chinese lanterns in the rear garden . . . a bit of England found its way into the garden setting because Michael Medway of Menlo Park, formerly of England, "misses the English park benches" and had made four elaborate white ones and brought them to the party . . . and barbecue tables, a la American, were set with gay clothes and floral arrangements.

Some 70 members and their guests attended the social evening which included a potluck supper and dancing. Enjoying themselves were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seibezeder, formerly of Vienna and New York . . . Hans and Lorraine Bakke, she was chairman of the party, telling of their recent trip to Mexico and bringing along with them the bongo and congo drums for some calpso music.

Hans also brought his accordion and played for singing . . . and later played three polkas which were danced by Stefan and Danuta Makochin, a Polish couple now residing in Menlo Park. The Mokochins were guests of Michael and Jackie Medway, former residents of England, who also had as their guests Pat and Marvin Sherman. Pat is from England originally and she and Marvin are now making their home in Stanford Village. By the way, the Shermans have a new baby and last Saturday's party marked their "first time out."

Lucille and Jack Monette greeted members and prospective members at the door . . . and among those were Luis Enrique Osorio who is teaching at Stanford's Hispanic Studies Department, and Mrs. Osorio who are making their home in Stanford Village. They are originally from Columbia, South America, and are here with their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Junius Cary were also among the party goers . . . Mr. and Mrs. Al Hammerman had as their Mrs. Gennie Hutchinson of Ohio who has come here to make her home . . . Mr. and Mrs. Winston Sparrow . . . the Al Gendeles . . . all singing "happy birthday" to Zelda Lee whose birthday was the day before the party.

Guild President Bill Wahl and Peg . . . Paul and Thelma Schaffer giving an assist to the general party chairman . . . Amy Anderson from Woodside . . . Carolyn and Ed Soomil . . . Jane Porter and Betty Brigham, guests of the hosts . . . Director Jerry LaGrande . . . Clarice and Tony Lavoi who are now settled in their new home in Ladera.

* * * *

Summer meanderings: The Lindley Lawrences Jr. (Polly Ghirardelli) are staying at the Lawrence Metcalfs' place in Woodside while the latter are at Lake Tahoe . . . the Richard Marshalls just back from a New York trip . . . Mr. and Mrs. William Goodan (Polly Phleger) and four youngsters arrived yesterday for a visit with her parents, the Herman Phlegers at their "Meadows" home in Woodside.

Mrs. Phleger, incidentally, was hostess recently to the Woodside-Atherton Garden Club at her pool house for the monthly meeting

Wally has asked his brother Eugene to be his best man. His other brother, Richard, lives in New York City, New York.

Kenneth Duncan of Menlo Park and Harold Herzog of Mountain View will be the ushers. Rev. D. L. Silke will read the marriage vows.

Among the guests who will honor the bridal couple will be Mr and Mrs. George Swenson of Woodside, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swenson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swenson of Walnut Creek, Mr. and Mrs Don Castle of Garden Grove and Mr. and Mrs. Val Staley, of Riverside, all uncles and aunts of the bride.

The event has been calendared for Wednesday, September 18, at 2 p.m. in the gardens of "Mille Fleurs," the Wickett place on Polhemsu avenue. Fashions will be shown by the Elizabetn Arden Salon of San Francisco with professional models.

Fashion Carousel:

Fashion Notes on International Scene

By EVELYN RADCLIFFE
INTERNATIONAL FASHION NOTES:

Switzerland: Exciting fashions in cotton and embroidery were shown to buyers in Europe this season. Play clothes ,sun suits with matching hooded jackets made of hand printed silk finished cotton satins, magnificent draped evening sheaths of floral printed chiffon-weight mousseline, and voluminous afternoon dresses in multicolortd cotton crepe constituted some of the tempting fashions available in St. Gall. They may be in our stores before long.

Leningrad: American fur buyers at the Leningrad auctions this year spent a good portion of their allowances on black dyed persian lamb, and broadtail skins. This was the biggest year for this annual auction during the post-war period. Extensive use of fur trimmings, and the advent of the fur suit into the fashion scene make this understandable.

One manufacturer, Stylecraft Furs, Ltd., already has on the market an exquisite suit of Lammoire, broadtail processed lamb which is much lighter in weight than ordinary persian lamb. This style has a short double-breasted pocket, three-fourths sleeves, a white mink collar, and slim skirt with side vents. Sounds sumptuous, doesn't it?

Berlin: Fall openings in Germany are not given much press space since they do not bear the pace-setting influence of Paris and Italy. Nevertheless, styles shown in Berlin this year were very much on the smart, clean, uncluttered side, and look as though they could have been designed by our own American designers, so right were they for our way of living.

Skirts with matching topcoats in muted tweeds, simple jacket dresses with not-so-simple sequin and gold embroidery on the dress underneath the jacket, and short evening gowns in such lovely fabrics as bronze satin helped put forth the fashion picture from Germany for the 1957-58 season.

Osaka, Japan: Did you know that some of the bra's you wear might have been made in Japan? Osaka exports to the United States sometimes as much as $150,000 worth in one month.

Madrid: Among the Spanish boutique fashions emerging this season were some stunning ones of leather. It seems they can make almost anything out of leather, and the Spanish are doing it!

One Barcelona designer brought to the showings in Madrid a black suede ankle-length evening dress! Well, it should be warm, anyway. Another presentation was a high fashion seven-eights length coat of black kid, with a modified barrel look, stand-away collar and rounded shoulder-sleeve line. Flannel, felt, and gabardine casual wear with touches of leather trim, or matching leather jackets were also shown in this ready-to-wear show.

Vienna: Vienna made news in the accessories field by being the first out with knitted handbags. Introduced last spring in Austria, for wear with cottons, the idea was caught up by American manufacturers who will have them ready for us for fall. These bags are on firm frames, covered with the knit fabric, some simple knit-one, purl-one designs, but the handsomest, a huge cable knit with handle and clasp of leather.

Rio de Janeiro: A news report says that one of Japan's greatest cultured pearl industrialists is in the process of establishing an equally large pearl industry around Rio. It seems that in Japan, no matter how they irritate him (her?), the oyster will only produce a nine milimeter pearl, but it is felt that the area around Rio might inspire him on to bigger and better pearls. Wouldn't it you?

'Beach' Artist to Talk at Little House

Robert Urquhart Melville of Grenada in the West Indies will be the featured speaker at Little House today at 2:15 p.m.

Mr. Melville, a retired marine and construction engineer, believes that every retired person should have a demanding and challenging avocation, and he has become a "beach-comber" artist living on a small but beautiful West Indian spice island where, as a hobby, he produces color etchings from multiple copper plates.

With his wife he is now visiting their daughter, Mrs. Thomas C. Smith of Palo Alto, whose husband is an associate professor at Stanford. He received his engineering and art training in Scotland.

In addition to showing samples of his color etchings (none of which is for sale), Mr. Melville will also project on a screen some color shots of Grenada, his island home, which was the locale of the color movie, "Island in the Sun," now showing in this area.

The schedule today through next Wednesday is as follows:

A bit of French is found in the pretty replicas of scales which we saw this week at Sparrows, Inc. They are decorative and made even more so when the two brass scales are balanced with fresh flowers. The base is white . . . and the T part of the scale is a combination of ebony and brass. This lovely bit for interior decoration is priced at $25. Another item we saw which took our fancy . . . and which would be darling as a shower gift for a bride-to-be . . . is the decorative fly swatter. Priced at $2.50, gilded and trimmed with a big artificial flower on the swatter, each is pinned with a little note: "Any flies foolish enough to buzz around your house at least have the consolation of meeting a glamorous end." And, so true!

* * *

Speaking of home interior decorations, we'd like to tell you of the lovely pieces of furniture we saw this week at McCoy's Furniture Store. It's beautiful Royal English made of solid pecan in living, dining and bedroom pieces in addition to occasional pieces. An especially lovely piece is the hutch top and buffet . . . the hutch has three drawers and the spoon and plate rack . . . the buffet has six drawers and two cabinets . . . and so handsomely detailed and priced at $393. Royal English is also available in the king-size bed headboard for $129.95 . . . dresser and mirror for $249.50 . . . a complete bedroom set is priced at $595. This is a "must see" . . . be sure you stop by McCoy's and you'll find this handsome furniture just to your liking.

* * *

So many items and so many bargains at Preuss Pharmacy these days . . . your "things to do today" means you must stop by to pick up that wonderful Elizabeth Arden soap now on special. The bath soap is priced at $2.50 . . . the hand size soap, $1.50 . . . and oh, so fragrant. Helene Rubinstein has a new lipstick on the market . . . the elongated "convertible" lipstick cases and the delightful-to-use lipstick which has the new dewy stay-long texture and lovely new color-change refills. The cases are in black and gold, and gold and priced at $1.10. Other cases are expected in very shortly and are very glamorous in gold, blue, pink, black and gold mesh, platinum and gold mesh. Something else we noted which is new at Preuss Pharmacy, and which you'll see a great deal on television, is Max Factor's new Hi-Fi lipstick for 75 cents and the fluid make-up formerly $2.50 and now only $1.75.

So many "fun" items at Menlo Toy and Party Shop for the younger set. You'll find a wide selection of gifts for birthdays . . . to keep tots quiet during long auto trips . . . actually, for any occasion. They especially have a very nice selection of books for children and for young teens. Most popular, probably, are the "Nancy Drew" and "Hardy Boys" books . . . famous horse and dog stories . . . "Make-It Books," quiz books, sports books and books chucked full of "knowledge." Just arrived at Menlo Toy and Party Shop is the "Jill Doll," who is the big sister to "Ginny" and "Jeannette." Priced at only $3, the "Jill Doll" is so fashion conscious . . . her clothes are lovely and she is also wearing earrings, bracelets, high heels and hose. It's not too early to think of Christmas . . . and "Jill" would love to be on your list of gifts for the little one.

* * *

If you're looking for a very special, particular, "just so" greeting card, your best bet is to stop by Searle's. The racks are chucked full of very humorous cards for almost any occasion and the person who receives one of these cards from you will be delighted all day long and undoubtedly for several days afterwards. We'll guess that it'll take you longer than usual to make your card selection at Searle's . . . once you start looking, you'll just have to read them all . . . and you'll be standing there chuckling to yourself. Have fun . . . and we know you'll come away with that very special greeting card.

Local 4-H'ers Off for Confab

San Mateo County will send 10 4-H Club members and leaders to attend the annual state 4-H convention August 26 to 30 at the University of California at Davis with three members named to represent the Woodside-Atherton 4-H Club.

Going from here will be Sharon Randel, Carolyn McPherson and Ray Warrington of the local club.

At the recent Fiesta awards banquet for 4-H and FFA members and their parents at the county fairgrounds, local members were given awards.

Sharon Randel was awarded the Montgomery Ward and Company trophy for home economics achievement on the basis of her exhibits in both clothing and foods division.

Ron Pardini, also of the Woodside-Atherton 4-H, took top honors in beef showmanship and received a trophy.

Miss Tipton To Marry September 1

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Tipton of Mountain View, formerly of East Palo Alto, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Delberta Delores Tipton on September 1 to Donald P. Medeiros at the First Baptist Church in Palo Alto.

Delbera attended Menlo-Atherton High School while her family lived on the peninsula, but she graduated from Hayward High School. This fall she will be a senior at San Jose State College. She is majoring in speech and drama in the department of education.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Madeiros of Santa Clara. He graduated from Santa Clara High School and he will be a senior in business administration at San Jose State this fall.

Delberta has asked her sister Wanda to be her maid of honor while Donald will have his brother Walter as his best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Tipton will hold a reception at their Mountain View home immediately following the exchange of vows.

Prizes Awarded In Flower Show

Several localites are listed as winners in the floral displays in the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta.

They included Mrs. Thomas F. Cuff of Menlo Park who took one second place in the flower arrangements division.

In the cut flower (amateur) division, J. Harvey Brown took three first prizes, and two second prizes, Charles N. Nunn took five firsts, two seconds and one third. Both are from Menlo Park. John P. Dusel of Atherton took one first and one third in the same division.

What's Doing Among Menlo Park Teen-Agers

Suzanne Horney

DA 3-2087

(Teen correspondent Suzanne Horney is away on vacation and her column is being written by Liz O'Connell. If you have any news, be sure to call her at DA 5-5081).

By LIZ O'CONNELL

Now that summer school is over, everybody is leaving on vacations. A long list of teens is headed for Tahoe. Gail Morrson, Jan Gray, Tamie Kopp, Mike Duin, Wells Richter, Bob Newhouse ,Rae Marstom, Sylvia Galli, Jerry Hattom, Terry Maloney, Karen Schmidt, Sally Christensen, Carolyn Cody, Sue Duin, Sue Wells, and many others are at the lake.

Recently back from a Presbyterian conference held at Zephyr Point, Tahoe, are Dot Grove, Terry Baker, Diane Engelman, Betty Aced, Barb Long and Cathy Davis.

HOUSE GUESTS

It seems that last week was the week everyone had house guests. Dot Grove had a girl friend, Lonnie Carr, down for a few days. Lynne Hyman from Stockton was the guest of Betsy Winnberg for a week. Liz Kennedy played host to Meredith Weller for a few days. John McManis had an interesting friend up from Los Angeles, Chris Briggs. Chris owns a 1931 Chevrolet, which he and John drove here from Los Angeles.

SPORTS

Several M-A grads were among the teen-agers seen at the Palo Alto Class "A" Softball League games this summer. Wade Hampton, Bill Bishop, Bill Brodie, Spinner Johnston, Doug Lehi, Barb Maider, Esther Klebe, Fran Dickman, Bob Wendell, Dave Newhouse, Muggs Robinson, Nick Castner, Vince Sanchez, Gary Olson, Wendy Pratt and Bob Ralls were just a few who attended.

Judie Hicks was hostess for a slumber party which included talking, eating and a swim in the wee hours. The guests were Peg McDowell, Sue Clancy, Bev Crofts, Beth Rosener, Carolyn Carson, Leslie Keck, Judy Chapin, Linda Crawford, Elice Monasch, Lynne Petersen and Jan Gray.

A few more vacation notes—in Los Angeles are Linda Crawford and John Niver. Judy Chapin is packing to go there, also. Carol Cureton is in New York. Santa Barbara is the destination of Leslie Keck. Lois Hoelter is spending a week with a friend in Visalia. Sheri Adams is back from a visit to Mexico.

Joan Stickney recently spent a few days in the hospital. There visiting her were Nancy Farr, Roger McErlane, Donna Gaylord, John McManis, Sharon Edwards, Lois Hoelter, Julie Eichorn, Bob Newhouse, Mike Duin, Terry Maloney, Tom Bird, Yvonne Laynne, Carol Stickney, Patti Brown and Bob Meyer.

PARTIES

Linda Crawford had a huge party to celebrate the end of summer school and to get everyone together before they left on vacations. Only a portion of the guest list was available and this included Bob Meyer, John McManis, John Symon, Jan Gray, Nancy Farr, George Gillmore, Jerry Hattom, Karen Schmidt, Sue Hall and oBb Newhouse.

Libby Bell, Marilyn Menta, Lesanne Coffin, Cathy Gomes, Nancy Berry, Mary Hindman and Sue Steiner were the guests of Phoebe Jenks and Molly Reingpach at a "kidnap breakfast" given to celebrate Lesannes' birthday.

Ann Bouskos had a party which seems to be quite popular. She and several of her girl friends had lunch and then went for a swim. There from M-A were Cammy Cole, Judy Rowson, Esther Klebe, Nina Millar and Liz Noonan.

Marilyn Ulman recently returned to the Peninsula after attending summer school at Chadwick. Jane Benidt and Patti Brown planned a "welcome home" party for her along with the help of Mrs. Ullman. There eating and talking were Joyce Sidwell, Paula Levin, Karen Schmidt, Cathy Gomes, Mary Hindman, Linda Skaff and Marilyn Menta.

An evening of dancing at the Claremont Hotel in the Berkeley hills topped off with a breakfast at 4 a.m. at Jim Bourne's provided these people with a lot of fun: Jim Bourne, Sue Leslie, Chuck Ott, Joan Harrington, Paul Weiden and Sue White.

HORSEBACK RIDING

Patti Brown, Carol Lehi, Jane Benidt and Linda Skaff trekked to San Francisco for a horseback ride. They rode to the Hitchrack for lunch and then returned to Carol Lehi's for a swim.

More on vacations. The Gullison twins are in Mt. Shasta. Mary Linforth is visiting Francie Forbstein in Ohio. On a ranch near Red Bluff is Joan Starkweather. John Peck, Randy Mundt, Linda Allio and Sue Steiner are headed for Balboa. They may see Linda Crawford and John Niven down there.

On another island is Lynne Petersen. Only she is on Catalina. Also down south are Lynda and Carol Nicolai. They are in Disneyland. Headed for the Trinity Alps are Liz Ramp, Jan Buckthal and Rudy Ramp.

One more party. Paul Weiden was surprised by Sue White, Jim Bourne, Sue Leslie, Chuck Ott, Joan Harrington, Seth Armstrong, and Margaret Mathews. Paul had just returned from two weeks in Oregon. Swimming, a bar-b-q and dancing were the main attractions of this party.

We hope Sue is enjoying herself in Hawaii. But then, who wouldn't?

Lutheran Guild Fetes Couples

The Mary-Martha Guild of the Bethany Lutheran Church in Menlo Park sponsored a reception and surprise shower recently for Mr. and Mrs. LeMoyne Waak and Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Hansen.

In the receiving line were Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Oswald, R. Alex Smith, president of the congregation, and Mrs. Smith, and the two honored couples.
